

a seasonal high water table that is at least 6 feet below the surface.

Depth to Bedrock

There is very little exposed rock on the site and in most areas, the depth to bedrock is in excess of five feet. In the low lying alluvial soils, the bedrock may be more than 10 feet below the surface. Consequently, bedrock should not pose a serious constraint on excavation for basements, foundations, utilities, or road construction across most of the site.