

is constructed on any of the lots covered by these restrictions it may face the street, but must have doors. If, however, an open carport is constructed on any of these lots it may open only to the side or rear of the lot on which it is constructed, and the walls thereof, must be of solid construction.

6. No livestock, cattle, swine, sheep, goats, or other such animals of similar breed shall be permitted to be kept on any residential plot. Likewise no chickens, domestic ducks, geese or other such fowls shall be permitted or kept on any residential plot.

7. No building shall be erected, placed or altered on any building plot in this subdivision until the building plans, specifications and plot plan showing the location of such building have been approved in writing as to conformity and harmony of external design with existing structures in the subdivision, and as to location of the building with respect to topography and finished ground elevation by a committee composed of R. D. Garrett, Robert L. Ware, and Robert M. Neill, or by a representative designated by a majority of the members of said committee. In the event of death or resignation of any member of said committee, the remaining member, or members, shall have full authority to approve or disapprove such design or to designate a representative with like authority. In the event said committee or its designated representative, fails to approve or disapprove such designs and location within thirty days after said plans and specifications have been submitted to it, or, in the event, if no suit to enjoin the erection of such building or the making of such alterations has been commenced prior to the completion thereof, such approval will not be required and this covenant will be deemed to have been fully complied with.

8. Neither the members of such committee, or its designated representative, shall be entitled to any compensation for services performed pursuant to this covenant. The powers and duties of such committee, and of its designated representatives, shall cease at the expiration of twenty-five (25) years, from the execution of this instrument. Thereafter, the approval described in this
