This contract and agreement made by and between Harold F. Southerlin, Husband, and Ruby C. Southerlin, wife, this 16th, day of July, 1935, witnessed.

In consideration of the sum of $500.00 paid me, the said Ruby C. Southerlin, by the said Harold F. Southerlin, receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, and for his mutual agreement herein expressed, I, the said Ruby C. Southerlin, do hereby release and forever discharge to Harold Southerlin, and his heirs and assigns forever, from any and all liability for support and maintenance, I, the said Ruby C. Southerlin, do hereby fully and voluntarily without fear or dread, not in the presence of my husband, release, discharge and renounce all of my interest in and to any and all property and dower in the same, which he now owns, has owned, or may hereinafter acquire.

I, the said Harold F. Southerlin, do hereby agree to the above and do hereby agree to forever release and discharge the said Ruby C. Southerlin from any and all liability due me as my wife, and do hereby release and forever discharge any interest which I have or may hereinafter have in and to any property which she now owns or may hereinafter acquire.

It is further agreed by the parties hereto that they are to forever live separate and apart and are in no manner to interfere or molest the freedom or activities of the other. The parties hereto do hereby forever discharge each other from any and all liability growing out of said marriage contract. The parties hereto do hereby agree to a divorce from each other.
