INDUSTRIAL INSTRUMENT
SERVICE, INC.,

Plaintiff,

-vs-

J. P. STEVENS & CO., INC.,

Defendant.

MECHANICS LIEN

PERSONALLY APPEARS before me Ray Martin, who, first being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the President of Industrial Instrument Service, Inc., a corporation organized existing under and pursuant to the laws of the State of South Carolina, with its principal place of business in Liberty, South Carolina.

That the Plaintiff entered into an agreement with TRG Company, general contractor for J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc., with the express authorization and agreement of J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc., to furnish labor for a renovation and alteration of the Defendant's industrial plant as located on the real property as hereinafter described.

The tract of real property owned by the Defendant and on which the Plaintiff performed the required labor, is fully described and shown on a survey prepared by the McPherson Company, Engineers, Greenville, South Carolina, November 9, 1948, and is
