

the age of twenty-one (21) of his intention to terminate his trust and demand the remaining property held therein. In the event such child does not give said written notice, the trust for such child shall continue in full force and effect until such child attains the age of thirty (30), or until such time as such child shall give said written notice to the Trustee, whichever first occurs, at which time such child's trust shall terminate and the Trustee shall transfer and deliver to such child, absolutely, the remaining principal and accumulated and undistributed income of such child's trust.

(c) In the event of the death of such child prior to the final distribution of principal and income of such child's trust as provided in Paragraph (b) above, the trust for such child shall terminate and the Trustee shall transfer and deliver the remaining principal and accumulated and undistributed income of such child's trust to such person or persons (including the estate of such child), either outright or in trust, and in such proportions and under such conditions as such child may appoint in and by his last will duly admitted to probate, making specific reference to this power of appointment.

(d) In default of the exercise of such power of appointment conferred herein, or insofar as such appointment shall not extend or take effect, then the part of such child's trust not effectively appointed shall be distributed to such child's then living descendants, per stirpes, (including those legally adopted), or, if none, to the Grantor's other then living descendants, per stirpes, (including those legally adopted), or, if none, to the estate of such child.

(5) Method of Payment. In case the income or principal becomes payable to a beneficiary under the age of twenty-one (21), or to a person under legal disability, or to a person not adjudicated incompetent but who, by reason of illness or mental or physical disability, is in the opinion of the Trustee (based upon actual knowledge or advice or opinion of any competent medical authority or physician apprised of the circumstances and facts) unable to administer such amounts properly, the Trustee may make any such payment in such of the following ways as the Trustee deems best: (a) directly to such beneficiary; (b) to the parents or some relative or friend of such beneficiary; (c) directly to any person or organization furnishing or providing the beneficiary's care, comfort, education or support; (d) to the legally appointed guardian or committee of such beneficiary; or (e) in any combination or combinations of these ways.

(6) Distributions to Beneficiaries Under the Age of Twenty-One (21). If, upon termination of any trust created herein, any share of the trust estate becomes distributable to a beneficiary who has not attained the age of twenty-one (21) years,
