2. Funds for Taxes and Insurance. - The amount of money that you will have to pay for taxes and insurance depends upon the type of property you own. If you own a house, you will have to pay property taxes. If you own a car, you will have to pay license fees. If you own a boat, you will have to pay boat taxes. If you own a business, you will have to pay business taxes. If you own a home, you will have to pay homeowner's insurance. If you own a car, you will have to pay auto insurance. If you own a boat, you will have to pay boat insurance. If you own a business, you will have to pay business insurance. The amount of money you will have to pay for taxes and insurance will depend upon the type of property you own and the amount of coverage you need.

If the government has no right to regulate the business of corporations, it follows that the state has no power to regulate the business of individuals. But we have seen that the state does regulate the business of individuals, and that it does so in many cases where it does not regulate the business of corporations. This is a clear violation of the Constitution.
