

the corpus of this Trust, any and all such amounts as the Trustee shall deem advisable for their comfort, well-being and general welfare, including such amounts as may be necessary for the completion of her education or for any post-graduate work. The determination of my Trustee as to the advisability of making any such payments of corpus shall be final and binding upon all persons then or thereafter interested in the Trust.

(c) The corpus of this Trust shall be distributed as follows:

(i) When my daughter enters college, such amounts are to be paid over to her as is necessary for her total comfort, well-being and general welfare and for all cost and living expenses, including, but not limited to, tuition, books and board, during such time that she is in college or doing post-graduate work with the remaining portion of the corpus to be paid to my daughter at such time as she completes her education or when she reaches the age of twenty-five (25) years, whichever contingency occurs first.

(d) Upon the death, at any time during the continuance of this Trust, should my daughter die, leaving a surviving lineal descendant or descendants, the Trustee shall continue to administer the Trust Estate, with the same power and authority, using all or such part of the net income and, if need be, such parts of the corpus as in the judgment of the said Trustee may, from time to time be necessary for the support, maintenance and education of such lineal descendant or descendants, until such time as the youngest surviving child attains the age of twenty-one (21) years, at which time the corpus and all undistributed income shall be paid over to the lineal descendants of my daughter in equal shares, per stirpes, and not per capita.

(e) Should my daughter die leaving no surviving lineal descendant, said Trust shall thereupon terminate, and the corpus of the Trust, as then constituted, and all undistributed income shall be paid in equal shares to the heirs at law of the Grantor, or those who would be the heirs at law if Grantor were then deceased, determined in accordance with the provisions of

(Continued on next page)