

document may be executed in as many counterparts as convenient and all counterparts shall together be deemed a single document joined in by all parties executing them. Such document may be executed by such holders in person or by attorney duly appointed in writing. Proof of execution of such document or such power of attorney, and of ownership of bonds, shall, in the discretion of the Trustees, be sufficient for any purpose of this instrument and conclusive in favor of the Trustees and Mortgagee with regard to any action taken or suffered by them in reliance thereon, if such proof is made in the following manner:

(a) The fact and date of such execution may be proved by the certificate of any Notary Public or other officers in any jurisdiction (who by the laws thereof has power to take acknowledgments therein) to the effect that the signer thereof acknowledged before him the execution thereof;

(b) The fact of the holding by any holder of bonds transferable by delivery, and the amounts and issue numbers thereof, and the fact of his holding the same, may be proved by a certificate, satisfactory to the Trustees, executed by any trust company, bank or other depository, wherever situated, stating that at the date therein mentioned such holder had on deposit with or exhibited to such company, bank or other depository the bonds described in such certificate. For all purposes of this instrument and of any proceeding pursuant hereto, such holder shall be deemed to continue as holder of such bonds until the Trustees shall have received notice in writing to the contrary.

(c) The ownership of registered bonds shall be proved by the Registrar.

The Trustees may, however, in any instance require the bondholder or bondholders to produce or deposit with the Corporate Trustee his or their bonds, or give other evidence of ownership, irrespective of whether or not such bonds are registered hereunder, anything herein or in said bonds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 6: Right to Sell Mortgaged Property as whole or in parcels: The Mortgagee agrees that at any sale under this instrument the mortgaged property may be sold, at the Trustees' option, either as a whole, or in such parcels as the Bankers consider for the best interests of the bondholders; and at the Trustees' option it may be offered, first by such parcels, and then as a whole, that offer producing the highest price for
